But while we reflect, with Horror and Deteſtation, on the dreadful Attempt, we derive ſome Conſolation from a firm Belief, that it was not the premeditated Act of blind Enthuſiaſm, but the feeble Effort of a wild Imagination.

We unite in Thankſgivings to the Almighty for this ſignal Inſtance of His Divine Goodneſs; and humbly pray, that He may grant your Majeſty a long and proſperous Reign, in uninterrupted Peace and Tranquility.

Given under the Common Seal of this Corporation, the Twenty-third Day of Auguſt, 1786.

WE, your Majeſty's dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Mayor and Commonalty of the ancient and loyal Borough of New Woodſtock, in Common Council aſſembled, impreſſed with every Sentiment of Duty and Affection for the many Bleſſings we enjoy under the Protection of your Majeſty, beg Leave, with Hearts full of Joy, to congratulate your Majeſty on your late providential Eſcape from Aſſaſſination. We hope we were never inſenſible to the Bleſſings of your Majeſty's Government; but we hardly knew ourſelves how deeply the Senſe of your Royal Virtues had taken Root in our Minds until they were called forth in all their Magnitude by the Apprehenſion that they were no more. We eſtimated what we enjoyed by what we dreaded to have loſt; and though almoſt in the ſame Inſtant, we ſaw that the all-wiſe and merciful Diſpoſer had changed our Cries of Sorrow into Thankſgiving and Praiſe, yet he amongſt us who ſhall live the longeſt will not forget that Moment of Deſpair, in which we repreſented to our Imaginations that Providence had brought the beſt of its Bleſſings to a Period. What then did we not feel, when we ourſelves beheld a Monarch, dear by the hereditary Obligations to His Family and Government, and dear by the recent Alarms of Loyalty and Affection? We could not ſufficiently admire the Condeſcenſion with which He was pleaſed to communicate Himſelf to the anxious Deſires of His Subjects, nor could they ſatiate their Senſes in beholding the Continuance of an Exiſtence on which depends the Happineſs of all.

Such was the Moment when we ſaw our Sovereign for the firſt Time. And with theſe Sentiments we cannot reſtrain ourſelves from preſſing forward to the Throne with ſincere but faint Expreſſions of the Loyalty, Veneration and Love which attach us to the Sovereign and Father of His People.

Given under our Common Seal, this Twenty-third Day of Auguſt, in the Year of our Lord, 1786.
